

1. A method for translating an animation vector to a target mix vector, comprising steps for:
  - generating a calibration vector; and
  - mapping the animation vector to the target mix vector using the calibration vector.

5

[illegible]